What's New in the Grocery List?

Grocery List is not a program in itself but a smart spreadsheet template that has been already pre-configured to help you customize it for your needs. There is no need to install it since it is just a spreadsheet that can be easily opened with specific programs such as Microsoft Excel included in the Office suite or alternatives like LibreOffice. The file can be easily modified and then printed so that you can have a clear view of the items that need to be purchased and thus refrain the impulse of buying additional products that are not really necessary. Pre-configured shopping lists The creator of the template has included several items in the list but they can be replaced with whatever you see fit. However, one thing to keep in mind is that they are grouped into categories and there is the possibility to create additional ones. Obviously, some knowledge about spreadsheets and how they work is necessary in order to make the most of the program. All the sheets included in the template are protected, which means that actions like renaming or deleting are restricted. On the other hand lifting the protection is just a click away. Working with the template is not a difficult task, but there may be some compatibility issues when it is edited with alternative programs. Conclusion Grocery List may appear quite simple but compared to alternatives on the market this solution for shopping is far from being ideal. It requires knowledge about working with spreadsheets and not all users are familiar with this type of information. Moreover, plenty of the alternatives provide the possibility to synchronize the shopping list with mobile devices. 3.07 What are your allergies?
